INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

Board of Trustees
William Sansum Diabetes Center

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of William Sansum Diabetes Center (the Center) which comprise the statement of financial position as of December 31, 2015, and the related statements of activity, functional expenses and cash flows for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a reasonable basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of William Sansum Diabetes Center as of December 31, 2015, and the changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Report on Summarized Comparative Information

We have previously audited William Sansum Diabetes Center's 2014 financial statements, and we expressed an unmodified audit opinion on those audited financial statements in our report dated June 26, 2015. In our opinion, the summarized comparative information presented herein as of and for the year ended December 31, 2014, is consistent, in all material respects, with the audited financial statements from which it has been derived.

Notes to Financial Statements
December 31, 2015
(With Summarized Comparative Totals for 2014)

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

This summary of significant accounting policies of William Sansum Diabetes Center (the Center) is presented to assist in understanding the Center's financial statements. The financial statements and notes are representations of the Center's management, who are responsible for their integrity and objectivity. These accounting policies conform to accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) and have been consistently applied in the preparation of the financial statements.

Nature of Activities

The Center is a non-profit charitable corporation devoted to the prevention, treatment and cure of diabetes. The Center's office and research facilities are located in Santa Barbara, California.

Financial Statement Presentation

Information regarding the Center's financial position and activities is reported according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets, and permanently restricted net assets.

Unrestricted net assets generally result from unrestricted contributions and investment income less expenses incurred in providing services and fundraising and other administrative expenses.

Temporarily restricted net assets are classified as such based on donor stipulations that they be used in a later period or for a specific purpose. They also include unrestricted investment income on permanently restricted assets where the income has not yet been appropriated for expenditure. When a restriction expires or is met, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and are reported in the accompanying statement of activities as net assets released from restriction.

Permanently restricted net assets consist of assets where the donor has imposed permanent restrictions on use of the principal of assets donated. The unrealized gains and investment income on funds not restricted by the donor are classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the Center in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA. (Note 9)

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents consists of cash on hand, cash in banks, and cash in money market funds and excludes cash and cash equivalents held for investment. Cash equivalents classified as investments include money market funds and certificates of deposit.

Contributed Services

During the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, the value of contributed services meeting the requirements for recognition in the financial statements was not material and has not been recorded. Although many individuals volunteer their time and perform a variety of tasks that assist the Center in various activities these services do not meet the GAAP criteria for recognition as contributed services. The Center receives approximately 1,300 volunteer hours per year.

Prior-Year Summarized Comparative Information

The financial statements include certain prior-year summarized comparative information in total but are not presented by net assets class. Such information does not include sufficient detail to constitute a presentation in conformity with GAAP. Accordingly, such information should be read in conjunction with the Center's financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2014 from which the summarized information was derived.

Accounts Receivable

The Center has made no provision for an allowance for doubtful accounts as of December 31, 2015 and 2014 based on management's analysis of the potential credit risk of funding agencies, historical trends, and other information. The Center does not require collateral from its funding agencies.

Bequests and Pledges Receivable

Bequests and pledges receivable are measured at fair value on the date a written unconditional promise to give is received from the donor. On this date, the fair value is measured using an income approach which incorporates inputs including estimated credit risk, estimated timing of cash receipts, and an appropriate present value discount factor.

Investments

Generally, GAAP requires that nonprofit organizations report investments at fair value. In accordance with that guidance, the Center accounts for its marketable equity securities at fair value. Information about the unrealized gains is presented in Note 3. Information about fair value of investments is discussed in Note 4.

Fair Value Measurements

The Center follows Accounting Standard Codification (ASC) No. 820, Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures, issued by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB). This standard defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and requires certain disclosures about fair value measurements. Pursuant to ASC No. 820, assets and liabilities recorded at fair value are categorized based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure fair value. ASC No. 820 establishes a three-level fair value hierarchy that describes the inputs that are used to measure the fair values of respective assets and liabilities:

Level 1 – Quoted prices are available in active markets for identical investments as of the reporting date.

Level 2 – Pricing inputs, including broker quotes, are generally those other than exchange quoted prices in active markets, which are either directly or indirectly observable as of the reporting date, and fair value is determined through the use of models or other valuation methodologies.

Level 3 – Pricing inputs are unobservable for the investment and include situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the investment. The inputs into the determination of fair value require significant management judgment, estimation, or other unobservable inputs.

Following is a description of the valuation methodologies used for assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis.

Cash: Valued at face value. (Level 1)

Cash equivalents, certificates of deposit, U.S. government obligations and corporate bonds: Valued utilizing benchmark yields, reported trades or broker dealer quotes. (Level 2)

Equity securities, mutual and exchange traded funds: Valued utilizing quoted prices available in active markets for identical investments as of the reporting date. (Level 1)

Charitable trust future payments: Valued using life expectancy and discount factors obtained from external sources including the Internal Revenue Service. (Level 2)

Life insurance policies: Valued based on policy’s cash surrender value. Cash surrender values are determined using unobservable inputs. (Level 3)

Annuities payable: Valued using the reasonably commensurate value factors for single life annuities provided by the California Department of Insurance. (Level 2)

Beneficial interest in perpetual trust: Valued based on the assets held by the trust utilizing quoted prices available in active markets for identical investments as of the reporting date. These assets consist of cash and cash equivalents, bonds, mutual funds, and equity securities. The Center does not have the ability to control or direct the assets held by the trust and the interest in the trust is nonredeemable. (Level 3)

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost or, if acquired by gift, at the fair market value at the date of donation. Expenditures for building improvements and major renewals in excess of $500 that extend the useful lives of property and equipment are capitalized. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are charged to operations as incurred. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives as follows:

	Years
Specialized equipment	2
Buildings and improvements	15-40
Furniture and equipment	4-10

Revenue Recognition – Clinical Studies

The Center recognizes revenues and related costs using the percentage-of-completion method measured by labor and direct costs incurred.

Functional Expenses

Direct expenses are charged to programs or supporting services in general categories based on specific identification. Overhead costs are allocated to programs or supporting services based on the relative ratio of square footage charged to each respective category.

Tax Exempt Status

The Center is an exempt organization under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) and Section 23701(d) of the California Revenue and Taxation Code, and is considered a public charity.

Uncertain Tax Positions

The Center's IRS Form 990 is subject to review and examination by Federal and state authorities. The Center is not aware of any activities that would jeopardize its tax-exempt status. The Center is not aware of any activities that are subject to tax on unrelated business income, excise or other taxes.

Use of Estimates

Financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP require management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

5. SPLIT INTEREST TRUST AGREEMENTS

The Center has a remainder interest in several charitable trusts which have been established by donors to provide income, generally for life, to designated beneficiaries. The remainder of the trust assets at maturity will be distributed to the Center and other remainder beneficiaries for the purposes designated in the trust agreements. Each year, beneficiaries receive trust income or a percentage of the trust's fair market value. The trusts are separate legal entities created under the provisions of Section 664 of the IRC.

If the Center is the trustee, the fair market value of the trust is recorded in the Center's statement of financial position and a corresponding liability is recorded for the net present value of the required payments as specified in the agreement. A contribution is recorded for the difference between the two amounts in the year received. At December 31, 2015, the fair market value of the trusts was $138,210 with a corresponding liability of $47,118. At December 31, 2014, the fair market value of these trusts was $154,152 with a corresponding liability of $60,681.

If the Center is not the trustee, the interest in the trust is recorded as the difference between the fair market value of the assets of the trust and the present value of required payments. At December 31, 2015, the net interest of the trusts was $192,830, which includes the fair market value of $559,743 and the corresponding liability of $366,913. At December 31, 2014, the net interest of these trusts was $168,688, which includes the fair market value of $598,146 and the corresponding liability of $429,457.

Any change in subsequent years in the fair market value of the trust assets or the required payment liability is recorded in the statement of activities as a change in the value of charitable trusts.

Trust assets and liabilities are stated at fair value. (Notes 1 and 4)

6. BENEFICIAL INTEREST IN PERPETUAL TRUST

The Center is the beneficiary of an interest in a perpetual trust. The Center is the sole recipient of the investment income from the trust. The income will be 5% to 8% of the average of the previous three years' fair market value of trust assets at December 31, paid at the trustee's discretion either annually or quarterly. The payments are restricted for research and education. The estimated fair value of the interest in the perpetual trust based on the fair market value of assets held in the trust was $1,577,369 and $1,663,050 at December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

7. LIFE INSURANCE

The Center is the beneficiary of life insurance policies with total death benefits of $136,793 and a cash surrender value of $107,667 and $104,466 as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively. The increase of cash surrender value of $3,201 and $3,359 for the years ended December 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, have been recorded in investment income in the accompanying statement of activity.

The Board of Trustees of the Center has interpreted the Uniform Prudent Management of Institutional Funds Act (UPMIFA) as requiring the preservation of the fair value of the original gift as of the gift date of the donor-restricted endowment funds absent explicit donor stipulations to the contrary. As a result of this interpretation, the Center classifies as permanently restricted net assets the original value of gifts donated to the permanent endowment. The unrealized gains and endowment investment income on funds not restricted by the donor are classified as temporarily restricted net assets until those amounts are appropriated for expenditure by the organization in a manner consistent with the standard of prudence prescribed by UPMIFA. In accordance with UPMIFA, the organization considered the following factors in making a determination to appropriate or accumulate donor-restricted endowment funds:

(1) The duration and preservation of the fund
(2) The purposes of the Center and the donor-restricted endowment fund
(3) General economic conditions
(4) The possible effect of inflation and deflation
(5) The expected total return from income and the appreciation of investments
(6) Other resources of the Center
(7) The investment policies of the Center

Funds with Deficiencies

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor restricted endowment funds may fall below the level that the donor or UPMIFA requires the Center to retain as a fund of perpetual duration. There were no deficiencies of this nature as of December 31, 2015 or 2014.

Return Objectives and Risk Parameters

The Center has adopted investment and spending policies for endowment assets that attempt to provide a predictable stream of funding to programs supported by its endowment while seeking to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets. Under this policy, as approved by the Board of Trustees, the endowment assets are invested approximately 60% in equities and 40% in fixed income securities. The equity investments are either exchange traded funds or index mutual funds. The fixed income investments are intermediate term and include U.S. Government obligations as well as U.S. corporations rated not less than ‘A’ by recognized rating agencies. The Center expects its endowment funds, over time, to provide an average rate of return of approximately 6% percent annually. Actual returns in any given year may vary from this amount.

Strategies Employed for Achieving Objectives

To satisfy its long-term rate-of-return objectives, the Center relies on a total return strategy in which investment returns are achieved through both capital appreciation (realized and unrealized) and current yield (interest and dividends).

Spending Policy and How the Investment Objectives Relate to Spending Policy

The Center has a policy of appropriating for distribution each year a prudent portion of earnings from endowment assets. In establishing this policy, the Center considered the long-term expected return on its endowment. Accordingly, over the long term, the Center expects its spending policy to allow the Center to conduct diabetes research. This is consistent with the Center's objective to maintain the purchasing power of the endowment assets held in perpetuity as well as to provide additional real growth through new gifts. During the year ended December 31, 2015 the Center appropriated income from certain endowment funds that had accumulated for the past seven years. The income was used to fund research and operations.

The Center maintains bank accounts at three financial institutions. Deposits at each institution are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000. Cash balances held in brokerage accounts are insured by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC) up to $250,000 per institution. The Center's uninsured cash balances totaled approximately $1,044,800 at December 31, 2015.

One funding agency accounted for 52% of the outstanding balance in accounts receivable as of December 31, 2015 and 35% as of December 31, 2014.
